MISTAKEN FOR A BURGLAR.

Col. R. H. Abernethy of Alabama Killed by His Son-in-Law.

MONTEAGUE, ALA., June 10.—Col. R. H. Abernethy of Tuskegee, Ala., spent last week and a portion of this with his son-in-law, Dr. D. H. Baker, at Gadsden, Ala. On Tuesday night while the colonel was walking in the garden he was mistaken for a burglar by Dr. Baker, who shot and instantly killed him. It seems it has long been a tradition that he would die a violent death. Many years ago the colonel had the misfortune to be involved in a personal difficulty with a son-in-law, when the latter was shot, and instantly killed.

As to the Gutters.

"I think," said a Houston street business man yesterday, "that it would be a sensible move on the part of the city council to have the gutters all relaid with dressed stone and the interstices grouted with Portland or some other good cement. The cost might be more it is true, but I think it would be economy in the long run, and far better for the health of the city, for the reason that the water would then run off instead of sinking into the ground and carrying with it the trash and filth that accumulate on the streets, to decay and fill the air with an almost unendurable stench. It would be far more cleanly, and a great deal more satisfactory to people doing business along the street."

Meeting City Engineer Kerr soon afterward the reporter asked him about the advantages, if any, of this method of paving gutters. He replied that it was undoubtedly a better method and the cost would be about 25c a square yard more than the present cost. "Then," said he, "all business men should be made to put in all necessary connections so it would not be necessary to tear up the street whenever a gas pipe or water pipe, etc., was laid. Then I would like to see the streets paved with asphalt."

The Knights of Tabor.

The grand lodge of the Knights of Tabor and the Order of Twelve is holding its annual session in this city at the hall on Houston street. This is a secret benevolent order very popular among the colored people and the attendance from all portions of the city is very large. The sessions will probably last during the entire week. The proceedings are held with closed doors, as is the case with all secret orders.

Daggett Fined.

The trial of Jeff Daggett, charged with shooting at his wife or sweetheart some nights ago was called before Justice McClung yesterday, and resulted in the imposition of a fine of $1 and costs, aggregating $1.50. This weekly light case was given to a very popular institution, and is providing an admirable means of promoting stability and cementing the members of the church in the bonds of friendship.

It is the desire of the ladies that all the friends of St. Andrew's church attend this tea, as they desire these events to become a sort of social rallying point.

A High Tea.

This evening the ladies of St. Andrew's Episcopal church gave another of their very popular high teas at the rectory from 5 to 10 o'clock. This weekly light case was given to a very popular institution, and is providing an admirable means of promoting stability and cementing the members of the church in the bonds of friendship.

Arrested in the Jail.

George Lloyd, who was indicted in connection with a negro girl and a white man for a robbery committed some time ago, and who has passed some months in jail awaiting his trial, was yesterday taken from the dark cell and given a cell by himself upstairs. He is much quieter, and promises to give no more trouble in the future.

A named Hickman was placed in jail yesterday, charged with forgery.

Going to Waco.

This morning at 9:05 a. m. the Fort Worth colored baseball team leave for Waco, where they will play a game with the Waco colored nine. The names and positions of the players are as follows:

Fort Worth. Waco.

Beckham, C. Solomon; Johnson, J. Warner; Brockman, J. Snowflake; Smith, J. G. Wells; Greer, J. S. Hanks; Johnson, S. Goodman; Pratt, J. Johnson; Gibson, J. P. Poney; Hatter, J. W. Beckham and Tison, Waco, Solomon and Warner.

Tried for Lunacy.

At six o'clock last evening E. L. Neary was brought before Judge Harris in the county court charged with lunacy. He sat quietly and apparently unconcerned during the hearing, and when the jury came in he gazed at them listlessly, and while the judge was reading the finding he gazed unconcernedly out of the window. He rose quietly enough and accompanied the officers willingly until he had crossed the stile and then he headed for the jail, when he was taken to the jail.

Four deputies were too much for him, however, and he was placed in a cell to await removal to Terrell. Mr. Neary is a fine looking man, about thirty years of age. Two years ago he suffered a sunstroke which resulted in a stiffness of the neck, to remove which he used croton oil as an emollient. His hallucination is that some imaginary enemy is pursuing him with an immense electric machine to burn out his eyes and his brain.

A DARING ROBBERY IN DAYLIGHT.

And the Man Who Sustained the Loss, Was Compelled to Admire the Manner in Which It Was Done, and Said It Was a "Slick Job."

The people here were warned frequently through the newspapers of the work of the midnight thief, who prompts around and about the city, and who, while you are embraced in the arms of slumber, but the above circumstance occurred in open day and on the steps from Main street, where the ramp of a policeman is used every five minutes, and he knew nothing about it till it was over. The fact of the matter is, a man left a very greasy coat and vest at Gaston Bros., Astorians, and after having a jet of steam turned on it, it was soon robbed of every sign of grease, and when he called for it, he was well pleased and said it was a "slick job."

Life of Shame—Suicide.

She is said to have come originally from Fort Worth or San Antonio.

WEDNESDAY'S WORK.

A Rather Lively Day In and Around the City.

A SUGGESTION AS TO GUTTERS.

What a Houston Street Business Man Thinks Should be Done—A Lunacy Case—The Flower Mission—Redford Notes—Exhibit Cars, Etc.

In Exhibit Hall.

The exhibit of Texas products at the Union depot is being added to each day, and the collection grows more interesting as it is enlarged. A large assortment of products, agricultural and horticultural, is expected soon from the northwestern counties, and these will materially increase the variety. Mr. T. Graham, the manager of the exhibit, started out yesterday with a subscription list, the money to be devoted to compensating the World's Fair exhibitors and possibilities of Fort Worth and Tarrant county alone, independent of the rest of Texas. A number of names were secured on the list, and the scheme will undoubtedly succeed.

A Barbecue at Riverside.

To-morrow the Cumberland Presbyterian church people will enjoy themselves by means of an old fashioned barbecue at Riverside in Riverside, for which extensive preparations are being made. The people will assemble at the church and leave that point at 9 a. m. sharp for the cars. No baskets will be needed, as the barbecue is a barbecue. Everybody who can conveniently do so is cordially invited to attend. A fine time is anticipated, and if the day proves pleasant it will be one of the events of the season.

Attention, Sedgwick Post No. 39, G. A. R.

Regular meeting Thursday evening, June 11, 1891, at the hall in "The Gazette" building, corner Fifth and Rusk streets, at 7:30 o'clock sharp. The inspector for the department of Texas will be present, and it is especially important that every member of the post attend this meeting. All members of the G. A. R. are cordially invited to meet with us.

C. B. GRABE, Commander.

T. W. MANCHESTER, Adjutant.

Marriage Licenses.

County Clerk King is at a loss to understand the sudden matrimonial boom that has struck the county. He maintained his composure fairly well until the first application came in, and when this was followed by the fourth and fifth he was "paralyzed." The ten souls thus licensed to embark on matrimony's turbulent sea were P. M. Collins and Julia R. Puritz, Ralph Jones and Lucy Mosely, Aug Winsley, colored, and Mrs. Emma Davidson, colored; W. F. Gray and Miss Rose Sellers, Peter V. Bibby and Miss Esther Stone.

Notes from Bedford.

The rains on Saturday greatly improved the condition of the corn and cotton in this section, and the farmers feel jubilant.

J. M. Bradford of Fort Worth spent a few days with friends in Bedford this week.

Bedford was pretty well represented at the Tarrant county teachers' association last Sunday. Messrs. Moore, Valentine, Glass and Warren attending, and Messrs. Moore Bros., with their self-binder, are cutting the small grain in this vicinity. The yield is excellent.

Grain of all kinds is abundant and the farmers are busy marketing the same.

In the Courts.

The Seventeenth judicial district court was unable to adjourn yesterday as expected, but will probably be able to do so today.

Miss Jennie Beck filed suit against George P. Mason, agent for debt.

In the forty-eighth district court Judge Steadman rendered final judgment in the divorce case of Muller vs. Muller, as to property rights. He held the real estate was Mrs. Muller's individual property, and the improvements thereon were community property.

Flower Mission Day at the Jail.

Editor Gazette:

The ninth day of June has for several years past been celebrated as flower mission day in this city, and is a day when the women of this city, and a large circle of ladies, gentlemen and children visited the jail. After singing "There is a Fountain Filled with Blood," Brother Lowber made a most impressive address, first to those at the eastern wing of the building and next the services were held at the western wing, and lastly a most impressive prayer was made for Mr. Davis, who has lately received his sentence of death.

The ladies distributed cards adorned with white ribbons. Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, Miss E. J. Whitmore, Mrs. Eunice Caster, Miss Eva Thompson, Miss Hettie Ray and Miss Grace Calhoun furnished bouquets of flowers to cheer these lonely and shut-in brothers.

The jailer, Mr. Elliott, gave a smiling welcome to these visitors. The prisoners expressed their pleasure in receiving the calls of these friends.
